

Nils Lager

Stockholm School of Economics Phone: (+46)72 200 70 09 nils.lager@hhs.se

|                           |                                                                                                                                                                                                     |             |
|---------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| RESEARCH           | Andersson, T., Kessel, D., Lager, N., Olme, E., & Reese, S. (2026). “ Beyond Truth-telling: A Replication Study on School Choice ”. Journal of Applied Econometrics , 41(3), 323–329. |             |
|                           | Andersson, T., Kessel, D., Lager, N. (2026) “ Unlocking Legal Efficiency Gains in School Switch Programs ”. Working paper.                                                                   |             |
|                           | Work in progress: Veterinary care. When Big Vet Comes to Town: Roll-Ups and the Price of Veterinary Care (working title).                                                                    |             |
| PRESENTATIONS      | Speed Brown Bag, Stockholm School of Economics                                                                                                                                                      | 2024        |
|                           | SUDSWEC, Stockholm School of Economics                                                                                                                                                              | 2025        |
|                           | Brown Bag, Stockholm School of Economics                                                                                                                                                            | 2026        |
| EDUCATION          | PhD in Economics, Stockholm School of Economics                                                                                                                                              | 2023 –      |
|                           | MPhil in Economics, University of Oxford                                                                                                                                                     | 2021 – 2023 |
|                           | BSc in Mathematics, Stockholm University                                                                                                                                                     | 2016 – 2021 |
|                           | BSc in Business and Economics, Stockholm School of Economics                                                                                                                                 | 2016 – 2019 |
|                           | - President’s List Award [top 10% GPA]- Exchange semester at Keio Graduate School of Economics, Tokyo, 2018.                                                                                    |             |
| SUMMER SCHOOLS     | Dynamic Structural Econometrics, London (Econometric Society)                                                                                                                                       | 2025        |
|                           | Dynamic Structural Models for Policy Evaluation, Barcelona (BSE)                                                                                                                                    | 2026        |
| TEACHING           | Math Boot Camp                                                                                                                                                                               | 2025 –      |
|                           | Lecturer, Graduate level, Stockholm School of Economics.                                                                                                                                            |             |
|                           | Advanced Mathematics for Economic Analysis                                                                                                                                                   | 2024 – 2025 |
|                           | Teaching Assistant, Graduate level, Stockholm School of Economics.                                                                                                                                  |             |
|                           | Macroeconomics and Economic Policy                                                                                                                                                           | 2019        |
| OTHER              | Coordinator, European Network for Training in Economic Research                                                                                                                                     | 2024 – 2026 |
|                           | Conference Organiser, ENTER Jamboree                                                                                                                                                                | 2025        |
| RESEARCH ASSISTANT | For Professor Tommy Andersson, Lund University                                                                                                                                                      | 2021 – 2023 |
|                           | For Assistant Professor Joakim Jansson, IFN                                                                                                                                                         | 2022        |
|                           | For Professor Jesper Roine, SITE                                                                                                                                                                    | 2019        |

|                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| RELEVANT WORK    | Mina Simuleringar [My Simulations] 2023 –Co-founder of private company, subcontractor to Mitt Skolval, offering a plug-in software for simulating alternative placement rules or seat supply for school districts. |
|                         | Mitt Skolval [My School Choice] 2019 – 2021Partner and Manager of Customer Relations. Research-driven company offering software for centralised student placement, using lessons from market design.               |
| POLICY BRIEFS    | Andersson, T., Kessel, D., Lager, N., & Olme, E. (2022). Politiska reformer för ett bättre skolvalssystem [Political reforms for a better school choice system].                                                       |
|                         | Andersson, T., Kessel, D., Lager, N., & Olme, E. (2021). Ett bättre skolvalssystem [A better school choice system].                                                                                                    |
|                         | Lager, N. & Swahn, A. (2020). 3:12 – Arbete eller Kapital? En rättvisare beskattning för arbetande företagare [3:12 – Labour or Capital? A more fair taxation of working owners].                                      |
| EXTRA-CURRICULAR | Co-captain of the Men’s Blues of Oxford University Ice Hockey Club, 2022–2023. Awarded Full Blue , 2022.                                                                                                               |
|                         | Former President of the Social Democratic Economists’ Club (SEK), Stockholm School of Economics.                                                                                                                              |